

The painting collaboration between Joel Tanis and the day campers from Come On Over! Week in 2011.

“At first she was a little scared about the whole thing. A day later she was talking about how great and funny her counselor was!!! What an awesome way to invest in our child’s understanding and relationship with God.”